My counterpart at NSA [] told me late last week that there is a memorandum winding its way to D/NSA, which he will sign, expressing his concern about the quantity of details on Soviet technical subjects being given to policymakers. Arms control is one part of this concern.

STAT

I told [] that I thought Gen. Faurer's letter ought to recognize that there are a number of important policy points associated with this issue--one of them being budget and one being policy support in the arms control process.

If I can do more to assist you here, please call.
